Ki is the energy of Nature and Life itself. It is related to the mind and spirit and when it comes through the body it expresses as deep health, vitality, calmness and inner strength. KI DEVELOPMENT – unification of mind and body through centering, grounding, Ki extension and development of Hara.

KOKYU HO – breathing practices for misogi (purification) and the activation of one's deep life power.

KI MEDITATION – achieving deep calmness, rejuvenation of internal energy and unshakeable connection to one's inner source.
